Programacion financiera: Metodos y aplicacion al caso de Colombia (Financial Programming: Methods and Application to the Case of Colombia) This volume-by Enzo Croce, Mercedes Da Costa, and V. Hugo Juan-Ramón, with contributions by Adolfo Barajas, Luis Carranza, Graciana del Castillo, Thomas Lehwing, and Alejandro Lopez-Mejia provides a practical treatment of how to formulate a macroeconomic adjustment program. The selection of macroeconomic policies oriented to reestablish or maintain internal and external equilibrium, and their incorporation in a quantitative framework that encompasses the diverse sectors of the economy, constitutes a financial program. Preparation of a country's financial program is a central element of courses offered by the IMF Institute. The focus here is on the case of Colombia during the period 1991-96, toward constructing an illustrative program for 1997. The book is accompanied by a CD-ROM (supplied in a back-cover pocket) containing data tables needed to complete exercises-given in the text. $26.50. Spanish. (paper) ISBN 1-55775-969-3 Stock #PFMASA
